My heart goes out to John, Jessica and their new son. I hope I never have to face such a difficult decision.

Jonathan Barnett Yes, I see a pattern developing. More calls for seeking common ground in very unsettling circumstances.... Yearnings to find "a middle path".

Convihvir Perú We're already in that middle path Jon.At the end,we all want the same : stop more preventable deaths !

Laura Ogar It's unfortunate that so many HIV dissidents have become as dogmatic as the orthodoxy - particularly when they themselves have the luxury of not having to make such difficult decisions. As Christine M said, "Questioning is a good thing. And we should be joining hands. There shouldn't be this my side/your side."

Elizabeth Ely Bullshit. He had my help, up front. And he lied, took chances he didn't need to take, all that. Cut out the "heart goes out" crap.

Elizabeth Ely Thanks, but I won't bother. It's all been said. It's all public.

Elizabeth Ely At least now I'm not the one who exposed a family to what they're about to experience. I can point to Jonathan for that.

Jonathan Barnett You can tune in to her rants on the Rethinking AIDS group, Andres Castrilli. We've got a serious credibility problem here, because I cannot view her posts anywhere but here, and that's not my doing.
